A Dark So Deadly - Stuart MacBride

A Dark So Deadly Sometimes the worst thing you can imagine is just the start. Welcome to the Misfit Mob. It's where Police Scotland dumps the officers it can't get rid of, but wants to: the outcasts, the troublemakers, the compromised. Officers like DC Callum MacGregor, lumbered with all the boring go-nowhere cases.

596. ISBN. 978-0-00-749468-2. A Dark so Deadly is a novel by Stuart MacBride which is set in the fictional town of Oldcastle. Whilst this is a stand alone novel, its setting of Oldcastle and the use of one of its characters, Dr Alice MacDonald, provide a link to the two Ash Henderson novels (Birthdays for the Dead and A Song for the Dying). A Dark so Deadly was the first novel in a run of seven books for Stuart MacBride not to have debuted at number one in the book charts.

A Dark So Deadly - Wikipedia

Never was a book better titled than A Dark So Deadly because it is very dark and very deadly. This book takes place in a fictitious town (Oldcastle) near Edinburgh on the east coast of Scotland. Lets start by saying "be very grateful you don't live in Oldcastle". No one can accuse Stuart MacBride of not giving his readers their monies worth. This book is six hundred pages of story telling at it's best.

At 600 pages, A Dark So Deadly is undoubtedly a beast, but the sheer talent at balancing plots and themes make it a novel that I guarantee is impossible to put down. Characters - 5/5 Stars: The Misfit Mob, led by the enigmatic 'Mother', is a team of wildly entertaining characters. Their complexities and distinct personalities are to die for.

Officers like DC Callum MacGregor, lumbered with all the boring go-nowhere cases. So when an ancient mummy is found at the Oldcastle tip, it ' s his job to track down its owner. But then Callum uncovers links between his mummified corpse and three missing young men, and life starts to get a lot more interesting.

A Dark So Deadly | The Works

A Dark So Deadly is exactly that. Or at least that is how it read to me. A parody of everything that makes up crime genre fiction, a play on every trope, and especially of the kind of book that Mr MacBride is synonymous with writing. Callum is like an over exaggerated and yet amazingly concise version of Logan McRae.

The most enjoyable things about A Dark So Deadly were the story, the characters and the narration - loved it all! What was one of the most memorable moments of A Dark So Deadly? Probably the denouement even though I did guess who the killer was before the big reveal it was still done in a brilliant way.
