The title “ Models of My Life ” is meant to indicate that his life has had several major themes: (1) the scientist and teacher, (2) the private person—love, family, and friends, (3) the university politician, and (4) the science politician. What the book lacks in its prose style it makes up for in an honesty that captures the readers interest.

This essay is a reflective journey through the loss I have experienced in my life. The essay will discuss two models of bereavement, dual process and continuing bonds. Towards not only understanding self in the process of loss, but also to understand some of the theories used to assist those who are grieving.

Reflective Essay: Grief and Bereavement

My Life for Transition-age Youth (ML-TAY) is based on the My Life for Self-Determination Model (MLM). This program model is for agencies serving young people in foster care (or similar settings) who are planning for the transition to independence. This adaptation is rated by the California Evidence-based Clearinghouse for Child Welfare as being supported by promising evidence, with more evidence forthcoming.

The My Life for Transition-Aged Youth (ML-TAY) Program Model

These personalities that our heart craves to follow and personify are our role models. A role model could be anyone. S/he could be a politician, an actress or an actor, a well known philanthropist, social activist etc. S/he could even be someone you know very dearly, like your father, mother or uncle etc.
