Shark vs Train by Chris Barton is not known for it's literary genius, but it is a humorous and colorful book that my 4 year old son absolutely loves. I will be honest and say that the side-conversations in the story (those written in idea bubbles) are a bit distracting in my opinion.

~~Shark vs. Train: Barton, Chris, Lichtenheld, Tom ...~~

"Shark vs. Train" by Chris Barton is a humorous picture book of a battle between a great white shark and a steam train. The book reveals that there is no obvious winner as a shark is successful in water and sports that involve water, but the train is successful in times when rides are given or when a loud sound or weight is tested.

~~Shark vs. Train by Chris Barton — Goodreads~~
Shark wins at high diving, not surprisingly, while Train comes out on top when it comes to burping. Other face-offs are less immediately obvious: Train stretches vertically to triumph at basketball, while Shark's sharp-toothed clown costume works best for trick-or-treating.

~~Shark vs. Train by Chris Barton, Tom Lichtenheld ...~~

Train can win a lemonade sale. But Shark can get the most Halloween candy. Both can do some things the other can't, and both can't do some things very well that the other can. But the fun is the challenge, and in imagining all the silly ways a shark and a train can compete with each other.

"Lichtenheld's snarling shark and grimacing train are definitely ready for a fight, and his scenarios gleefully play up the absurdity. The combatants' expressions are priceless when they lose. A glum train in smoky dejection, or a bewildered, crestfallen shark? It's hard to choose; both are winners." (Kirkus, starred review)
